Visitation High School
 CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

"Our Beloved Visitation . . .

Our story of Visitation High School is an echo of the old, old story told by Luke of the youthful Mary carrying Christ to Elizabeth, for we—through Christian education—
 prepare to carry Christ to others.

Girlhood Aspirations High . . .”

We study, play, work, and pray in crowds, in groups, and alone.

"Friendships Warm . . .

In our story you will find happy, thoughtful girls learning to find the Way by prayer, to follow the Truth by study,

Ours, A School That Memory Hallows . . .”

and to live the Life through the sacraments

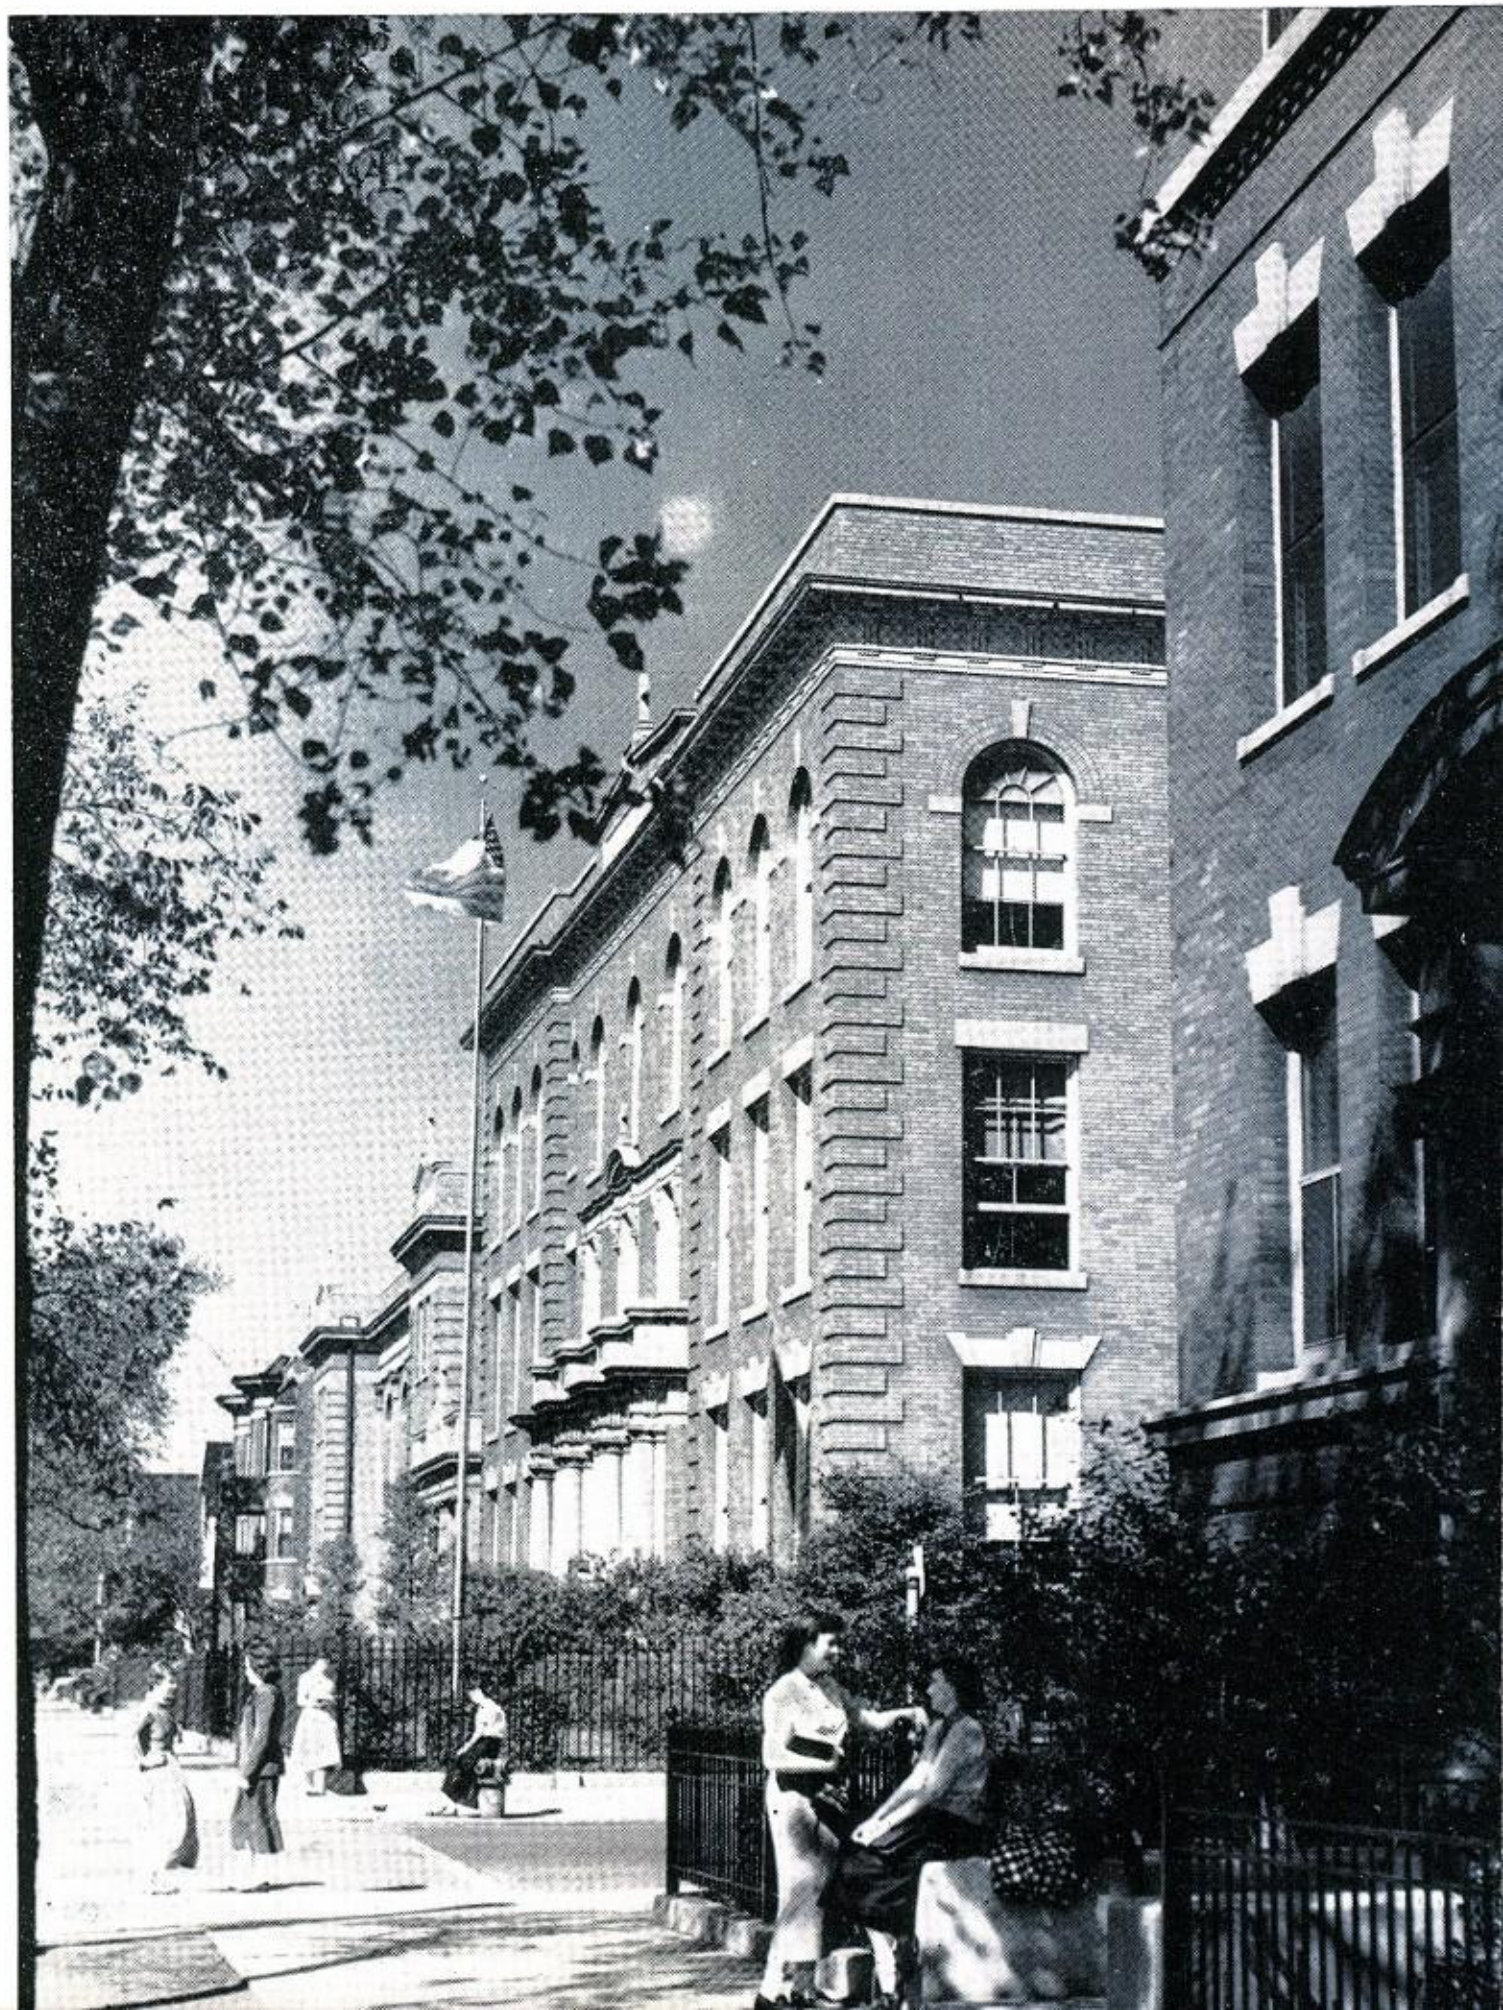

under the guidance of Our Lady of the Visitation

This is our Father's House

OUR SCHOOL	Page 8
OUR UNDERGRADS	Page 28
OUR ACTIVITIES	Page 52

This is our House.

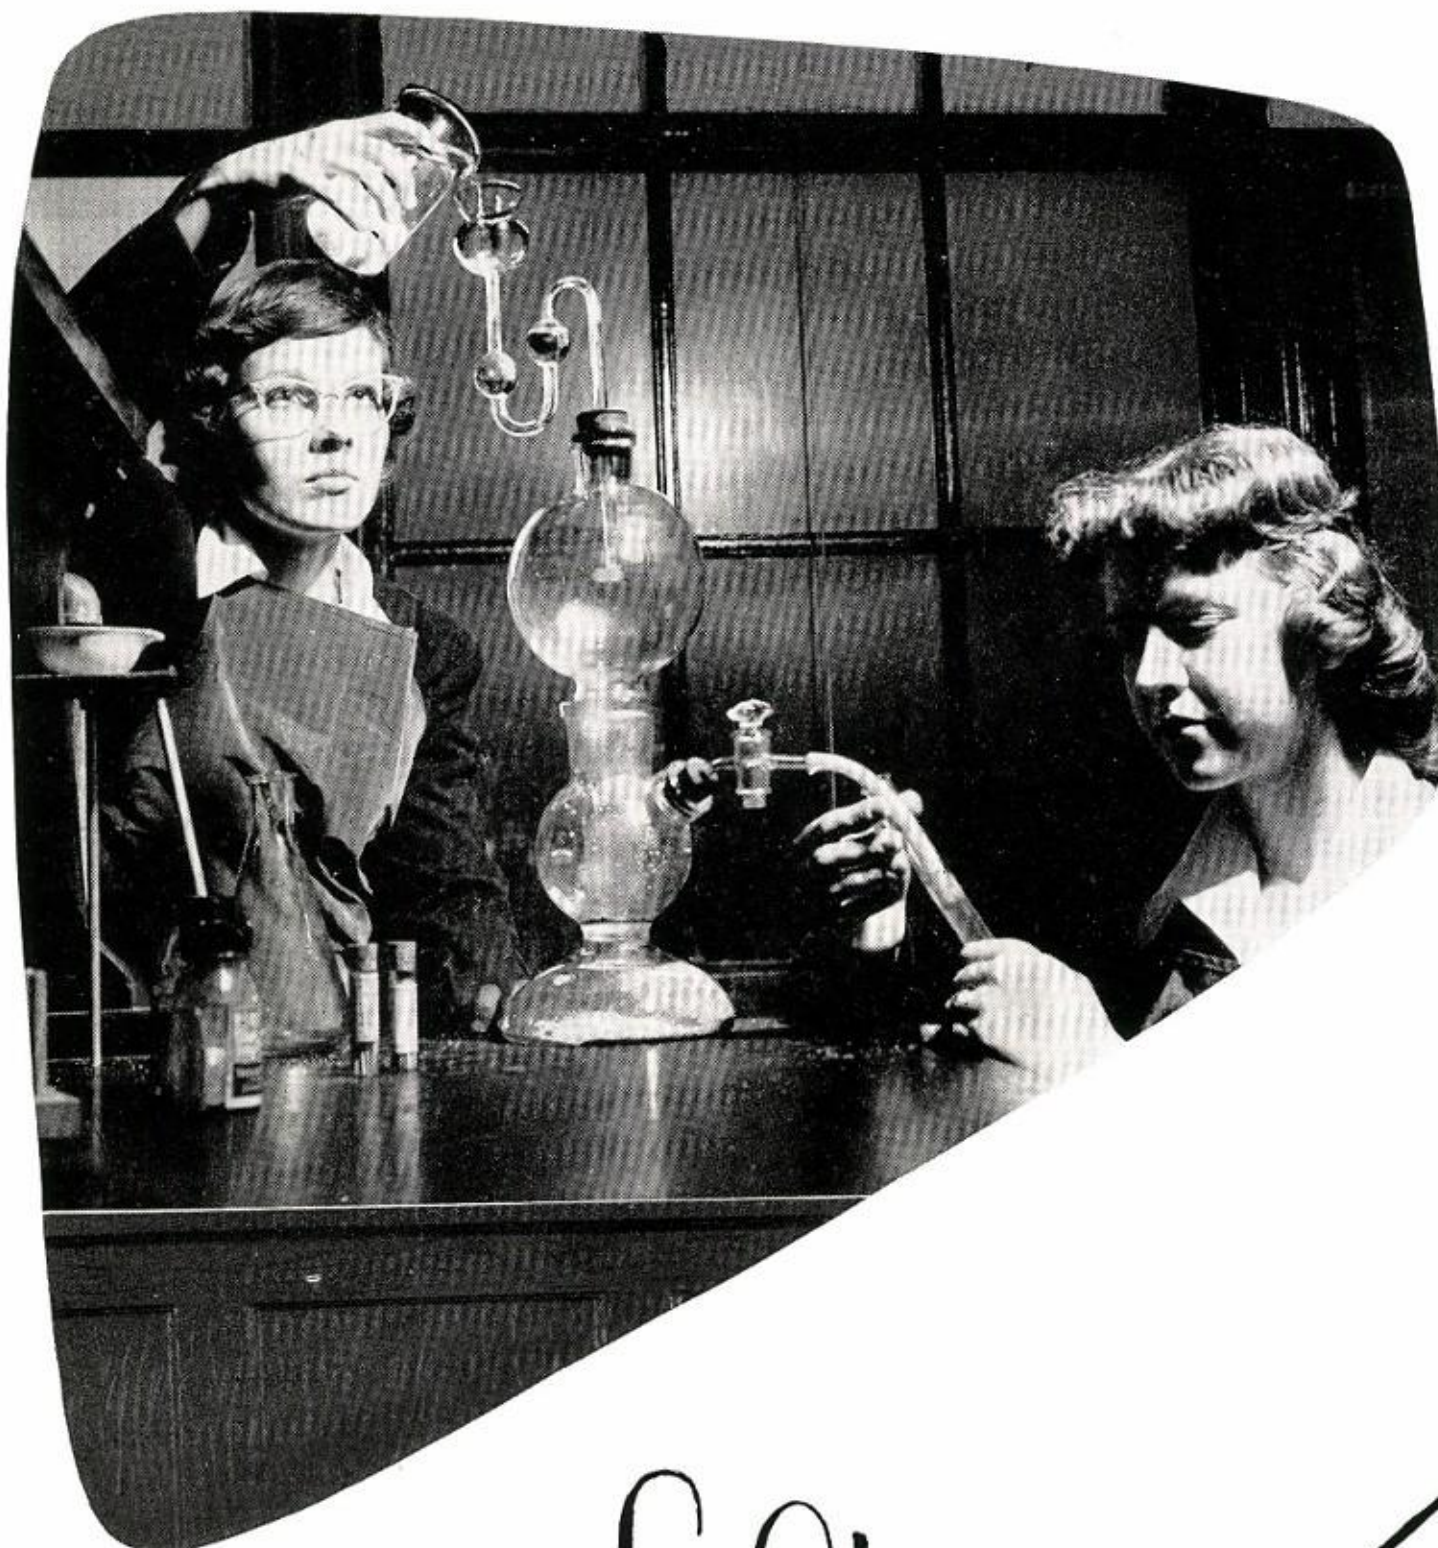

To Our Pastor

The Right Reverend Monsignor Daniel Byrnes, who is celebrating his Golden Jubilee commemorating fifty years of service in the priesthood, we gratefully dedicate the 1952 Vision.

*The Lord made to him a covenant of peace,
and made him a prince;
that the dignity of priesthood
should be to him forever.*

ECCLESIASTICUS 45, 30.

SCHOOL

Our house is a house of many rooms,

B I G R O O M S

and little rooms,

as B I G as 301

and

as small as 207.

We trot up to the third,

amble to the addition,

saunter back to study,

and jump down to the gym.

We need a huge house to live in because there are over a thousand of us.

In Religion . . .

we learn to live the second mystery of the Rosary, THE VISITATION. From the Mass, we, like other Marys, carry Christ to others, in our homes, in our work, in our fun.

OPPOSITE PAGE

Upper: Fr. Nugent, Fr. Clifford, Fr. O'Donnell, and Fr. Grace enjoy Fr. Keegan's quips. All of us are grateful to Fr. O'Donnell and Fr. Keegan for the spiritual guidance we received in their religion classes.

Right: Devotion to Mary is important to all of us at Visitation. P. Darcy, M. Kooney, P. McGinnis, and M. O'Connell discuss one of Mary's apparitions.

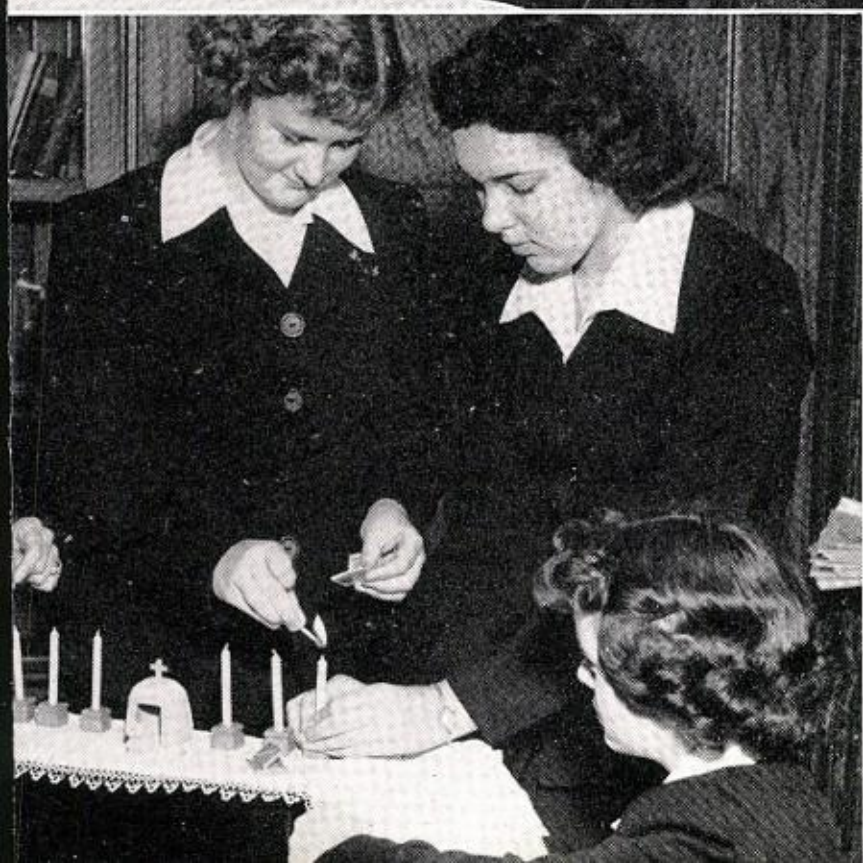

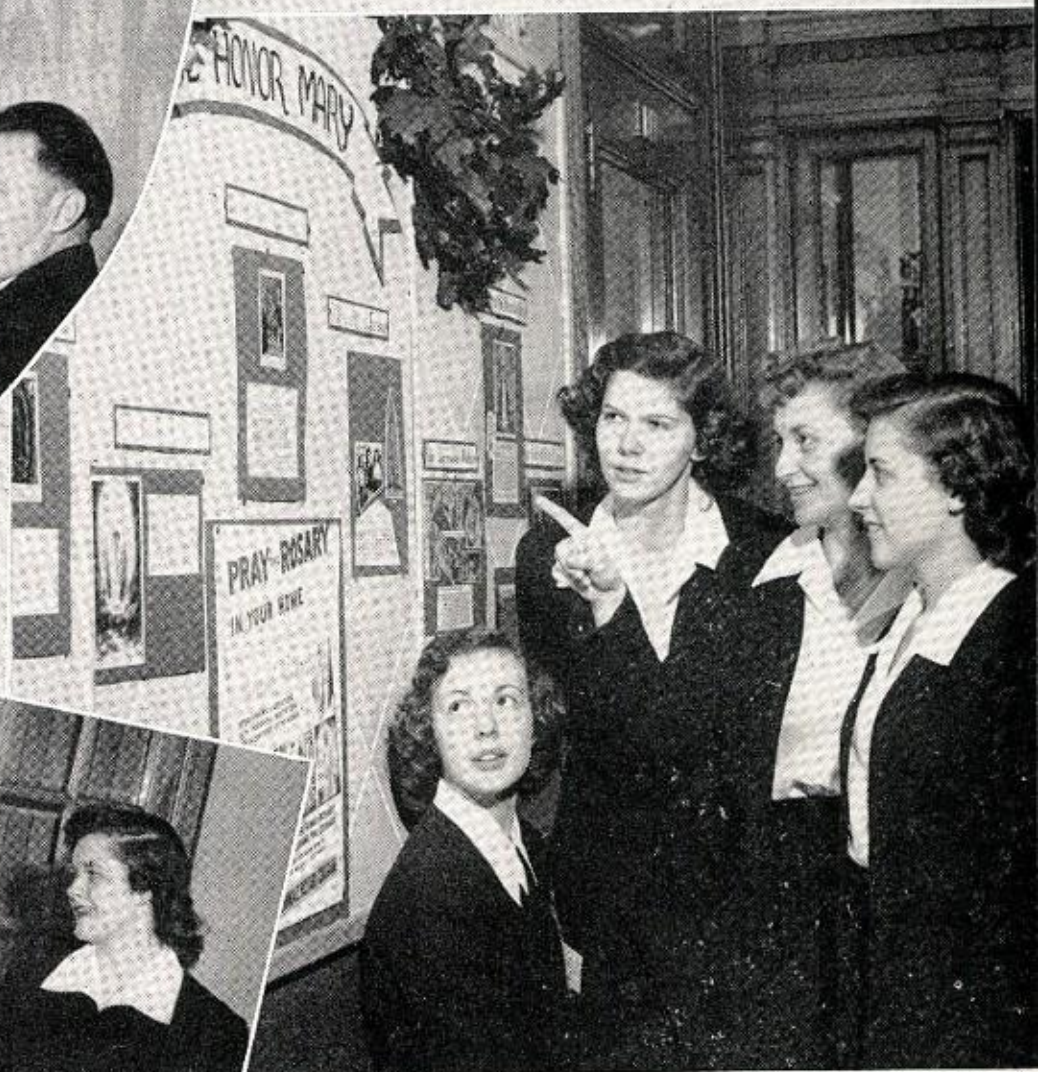

Center: Christian social living makes these Juniors, L. Casey, M. Peterson, E. Pittroff, J. Vacarro, H. Corbett, and M. Kelly conscious of social virtues.

Lower Right: J. Olson, J. McNicholas, and A. Jurica spread devotion to the Rosary as part of the Freshman religious activities.

Center: Offering the Mass with the priest is brought closer to M. Noeth, M. Feiner, M. A. Brady, D. Milles, P. Jordan by arranging their miniature altar.

Left: Their spiritual problems solved, L. Casey, M. Broadhurst, and L. Beyer show Fr. McCartin and Fr. Keller how much they enjoyed their annual retreat.

Learning Language and Literature . . .

makes it easy for us to appreciate people of all ages, of all nations — for through Literature we share their thoughts, understand their customs, and experience their emotions.

- Upper left: Could there be more—Books, that is! Doubtfully J. St. Arnaud, H. Crawley, P. Murphy, H. Cahill, and A. Hadley unpack Junior reading materials for the year.
- Upper right: "It certainly is," decide S. Bachman and J. Guss as they complete a display in 201 for Latin II.
- Center left: "It's easier to learn this way," exclaim Freshmen B. Houston, M. Curran, and M. L. McCalli.
- Center: Don't judge a book by its cover. It's L. Olson reading to the Spanish class.
- Lower left: "Je ne comprende pas—yet," but P. Carollo, E. Higgins, M. K. Riordan, and M. Mahoney keep trying.
- Lower center: K. Reid recites her Sophomore English while her classmates M. Flavin, D. Leiser, and M. Kann listen with awe and amazement.
- Below: "Stand up and tell us your age!" A. Kenneger, J. Killham, D. Rockenback, M. Smith, M. L. O'Heir, and M. Brennan are asking too much of Vergil.
- Below: J. Loye and C. Hawk make it emphatic in Senior Speech, but J. Hartnett and C. Brown are not quite satisfied.

Clattering Keys and Flying Fingers

Below: Eyes on copy, not on keys.

Upper Left: Grace Phelan, champion typist, demonstrates some fine points on an electric typewriter to M. Cahill, C. Chabala, C. Hanrahan, and J. Gordon.

Upper Right: "Do you solemnly swear to tell . . . ?" B. Pierce, E. O'Sullivan, H. Curran, E. Hurckes, M. Rogers, and E. Cusack practice business law.

Center: "File it under V," says M. Tams to K. Gavin and M. Rogers in clerical training.

Lower Right: "Strange little figures all in a row, It's hard to tell which way they go," discovered C. Sexton.

Fun with the Fine Arts

Through materials and music we explore our capabilities and develop an appreciation of ideas expressed in various forms of art.

Upper: Promising Picassos make a three-eyed portrait of R. Crisanto.

Right: Yes, it's J. Cunningham and M. Draghi expressing themselves with chalk while K. O'Boyle and A. Morley wonder about the works of the masters.

Center left: Ideas abound and brushes fly as C. Sheehan, B. Nogaj, and H. Hickey begin to work.

Lower: The studio mobile amazes K. Walsh, as J. Luzzi and T. Barry make a few final adjustments.

Right: Three musicians and one piano equal a duet as E. Daly and L. Tillrock play for Sr. Carolita.

Below: Hot from the oven—kiln, that is—come pottery pieces by L. Yancey, J. Walczak and R. Curran.

Seeing Through Science

A scientist is a scholar who knows all about pulleys, plants and animals, atoms, chemical reactions and even movie machines.

Upper Left: Circulation of the blood is tested by M. Zimmerman, H. Zeglen and M. Swanson of the health class.

Center: The periodic chart helps P. Hughes and V. Jecmen to understand the mystery of the atom.

Upper Right: Movies are fun, when we know how the machine's run. J. Adl-hoch, J. Sheehy and M. Healy examine our projector.

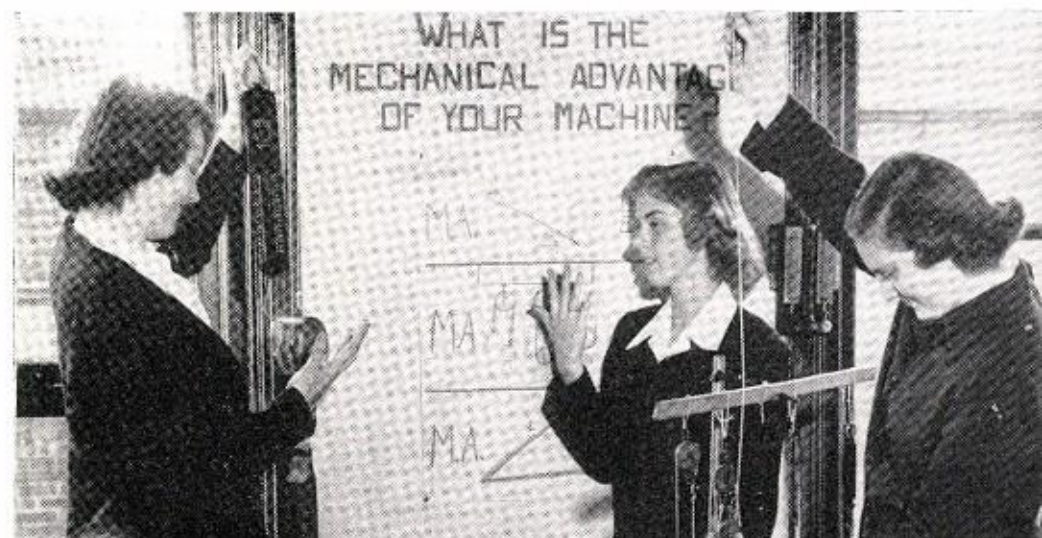

Center: Distillation holds the attention of R. McMahon and P. Collins.

Upper Right: M. O'Connell, J. Loftus, C. C. McCabe and D. Gabel of the physics class demonstrate the use of pulleys.

Lower Right: E. Green finds that feeding the fish is a pleasant pastime.

Social Sciences teach us about the World.

AMERICAN HISTORY . . .
Our American world

WORLD HISTORY . . .
The world behind us

ECONOMICS . . .
The world around us

SOCIOLOGY . . .
How to get along with the world

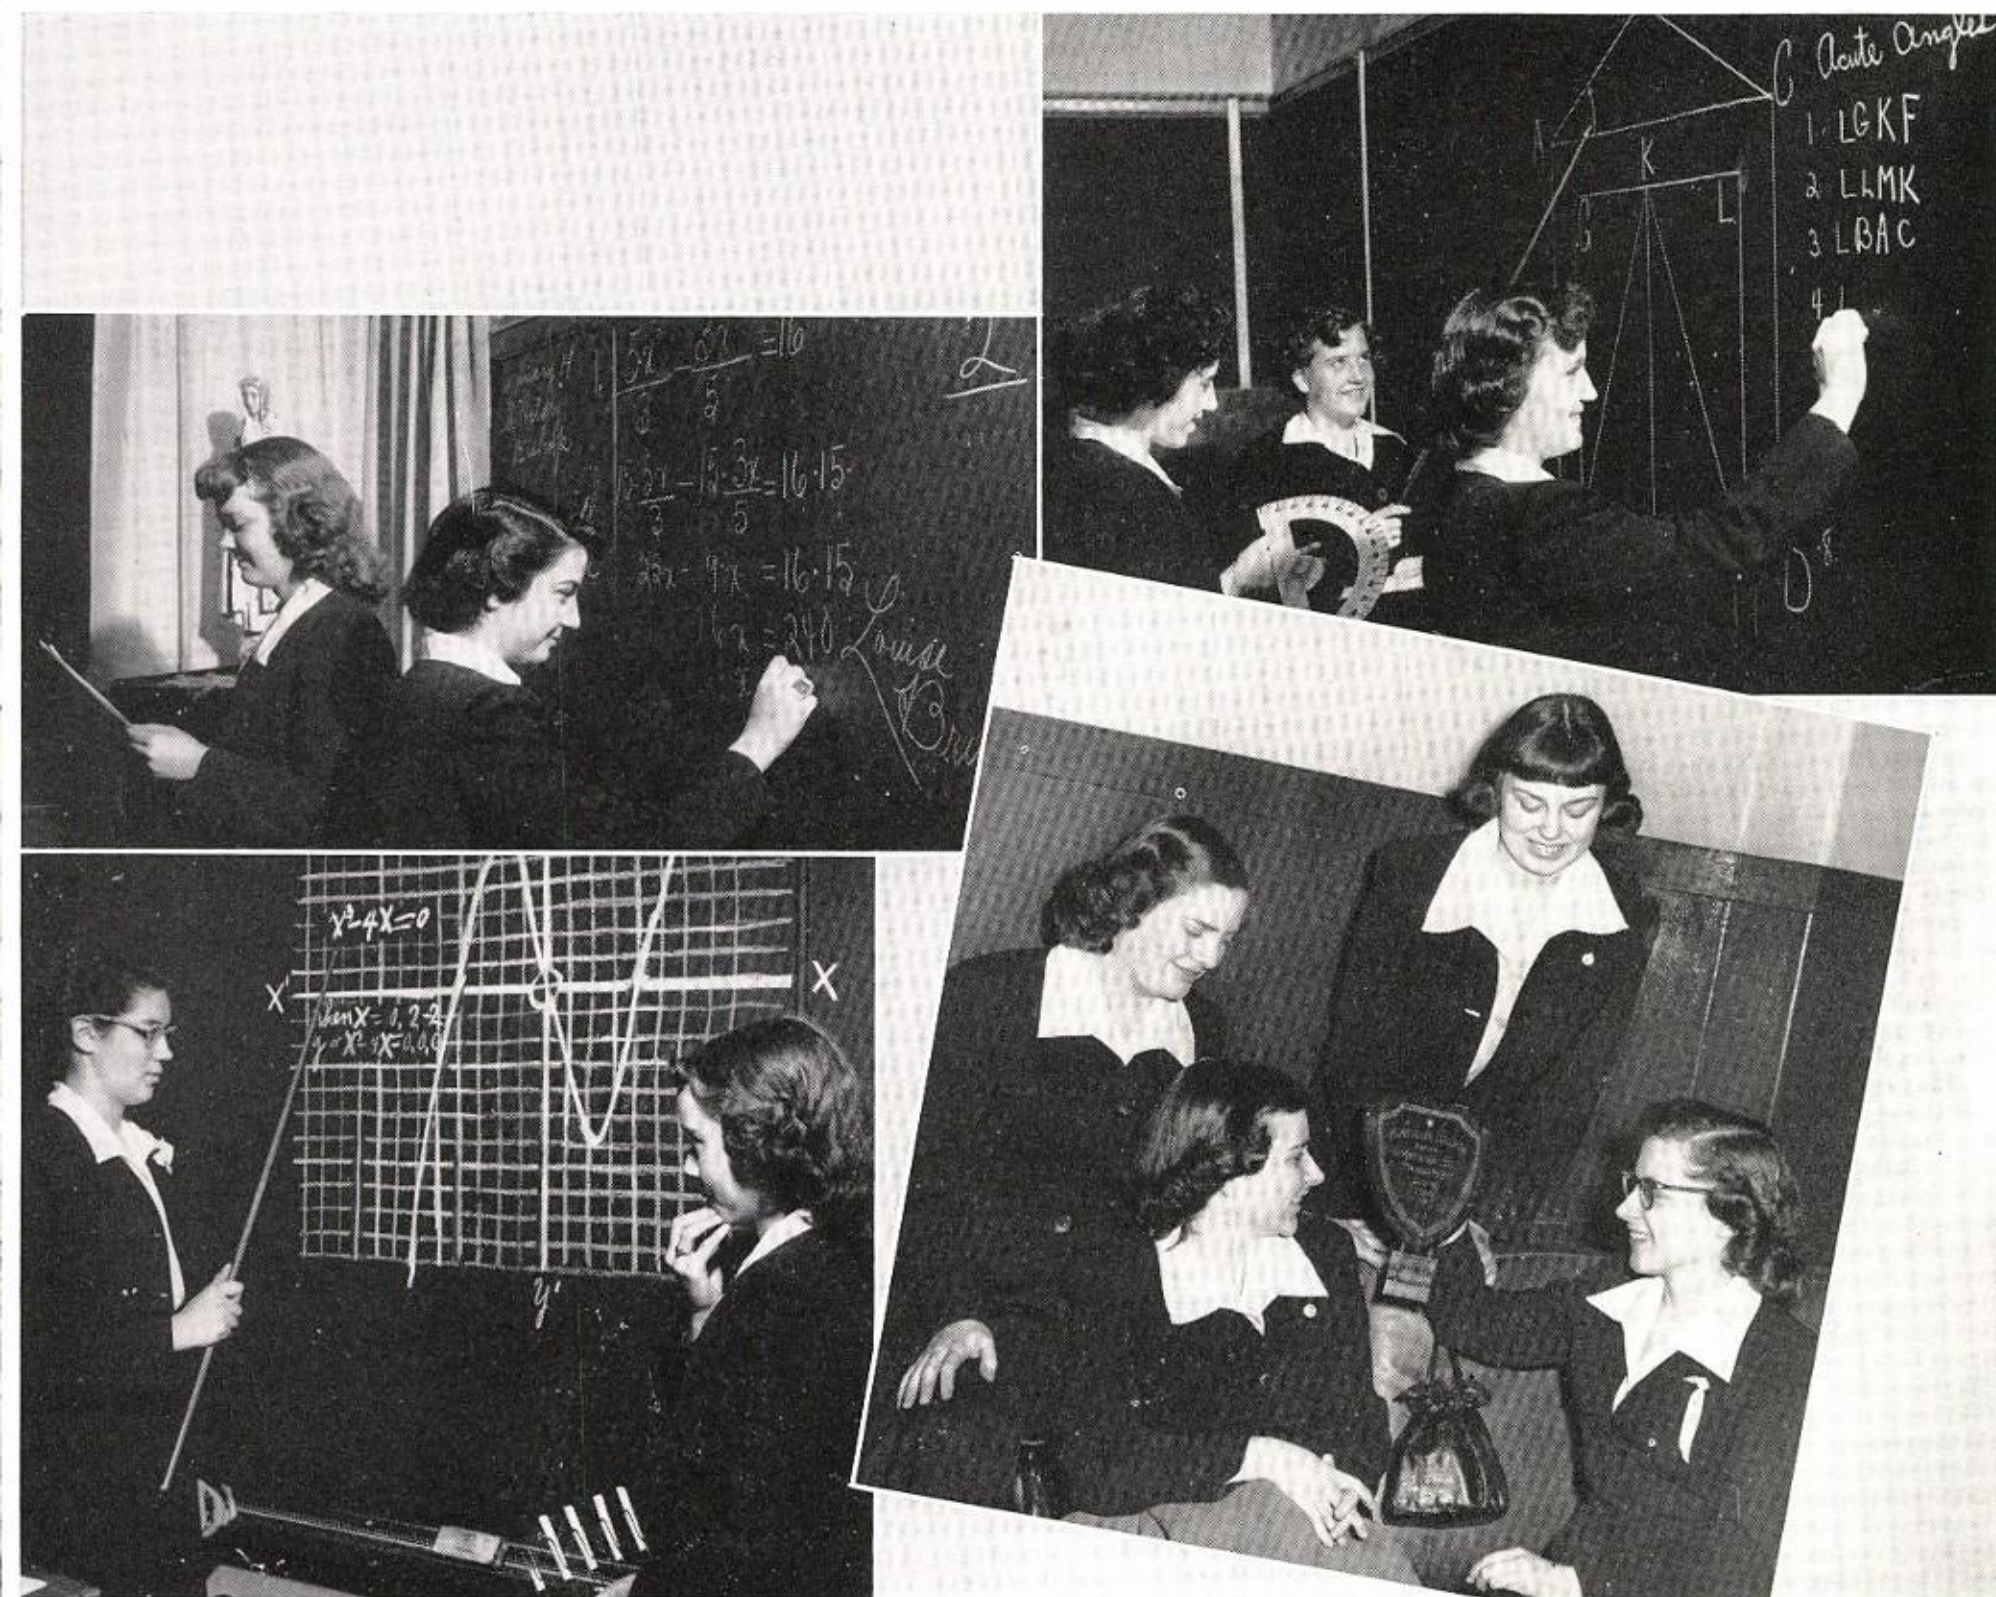

Upper: Tracing the explorations of famous adventurers can be fun. M. Putz, C. Dennis, and M. Burke seem to find it so.

Left: "Who landed here?" R. Catrell asks B. Clancy.

Center: "Didn't anyone make Tennessee?" M. A. Thornton asks N. Smith and K. Gibbons.

Lower: J. Sheehy, R. Reilly, and M. Miller seem interested in M. Kane's labor report.

Maneuvering in Mathematics

General math, algebra, geometry, and advanced math are the classes that train us to face problems and to solve them.

Upper Left: Simultaneous solutions to the same problem are produced by T. Holman and L. Bruno in algebra class.

Lower Left: G. Stupka is demanding mental gymnastics of M. Mahoney in the advanced math class.

Upper right: "A cute triangle" work out acute angles, as S. DiGeronimo and M. Fryzek watch M. Viva list their findings.

Lower Right: A winning team and a trophy—for placing second in Mundelein's math tournament! The smiling mathmagicians are D. Gabel, J. Grant, M. Healy, and M. O'Connell.

KNOW YOUR COLORS

Sewing, Serving, and Seasoning . . .

are pleasant tasks for our girls. These classes provide a background for prospective homemakers.

Upper Left: LOST BOUNDARIES are explored by A. Kienneger, M. Volland, M. Wolff and M. DiGregorio.

Lower Left: VANITY FAIR includes the problem of color and texture for B. McGuire, J. Fitzgerald and M. Mahoney in their spring wardrobes!

Upper Left: ONE YEAR TO GROW presents a problem to everyone, but P. O'Brien's is solved by M. Keane and A. Gurgone.

Lower Left: MIND YOUR MANNERS say J. Friedrich, C. Vinci, J. Roman, and R. Boland as they are served by R. Le Master and C. Busch.

Right: POT LUCK is being brewed by L. Brankin.

Bending Belles and Bouncing Balls

Down in our gym
exercises are mastered,
volleyball and basketball are practiced,
sportsmanship and teamwork are fostered, and our sports year is climaxed by the intramural basketball tournament.

Left—Upper: You can catch it — you can hide it — but DO-O-O-N'T kick it!!!

Lower: Waist-nippers.

Right—Upper: Did you ever see anything like it???

Lower: Make that basket!

Chucklebait

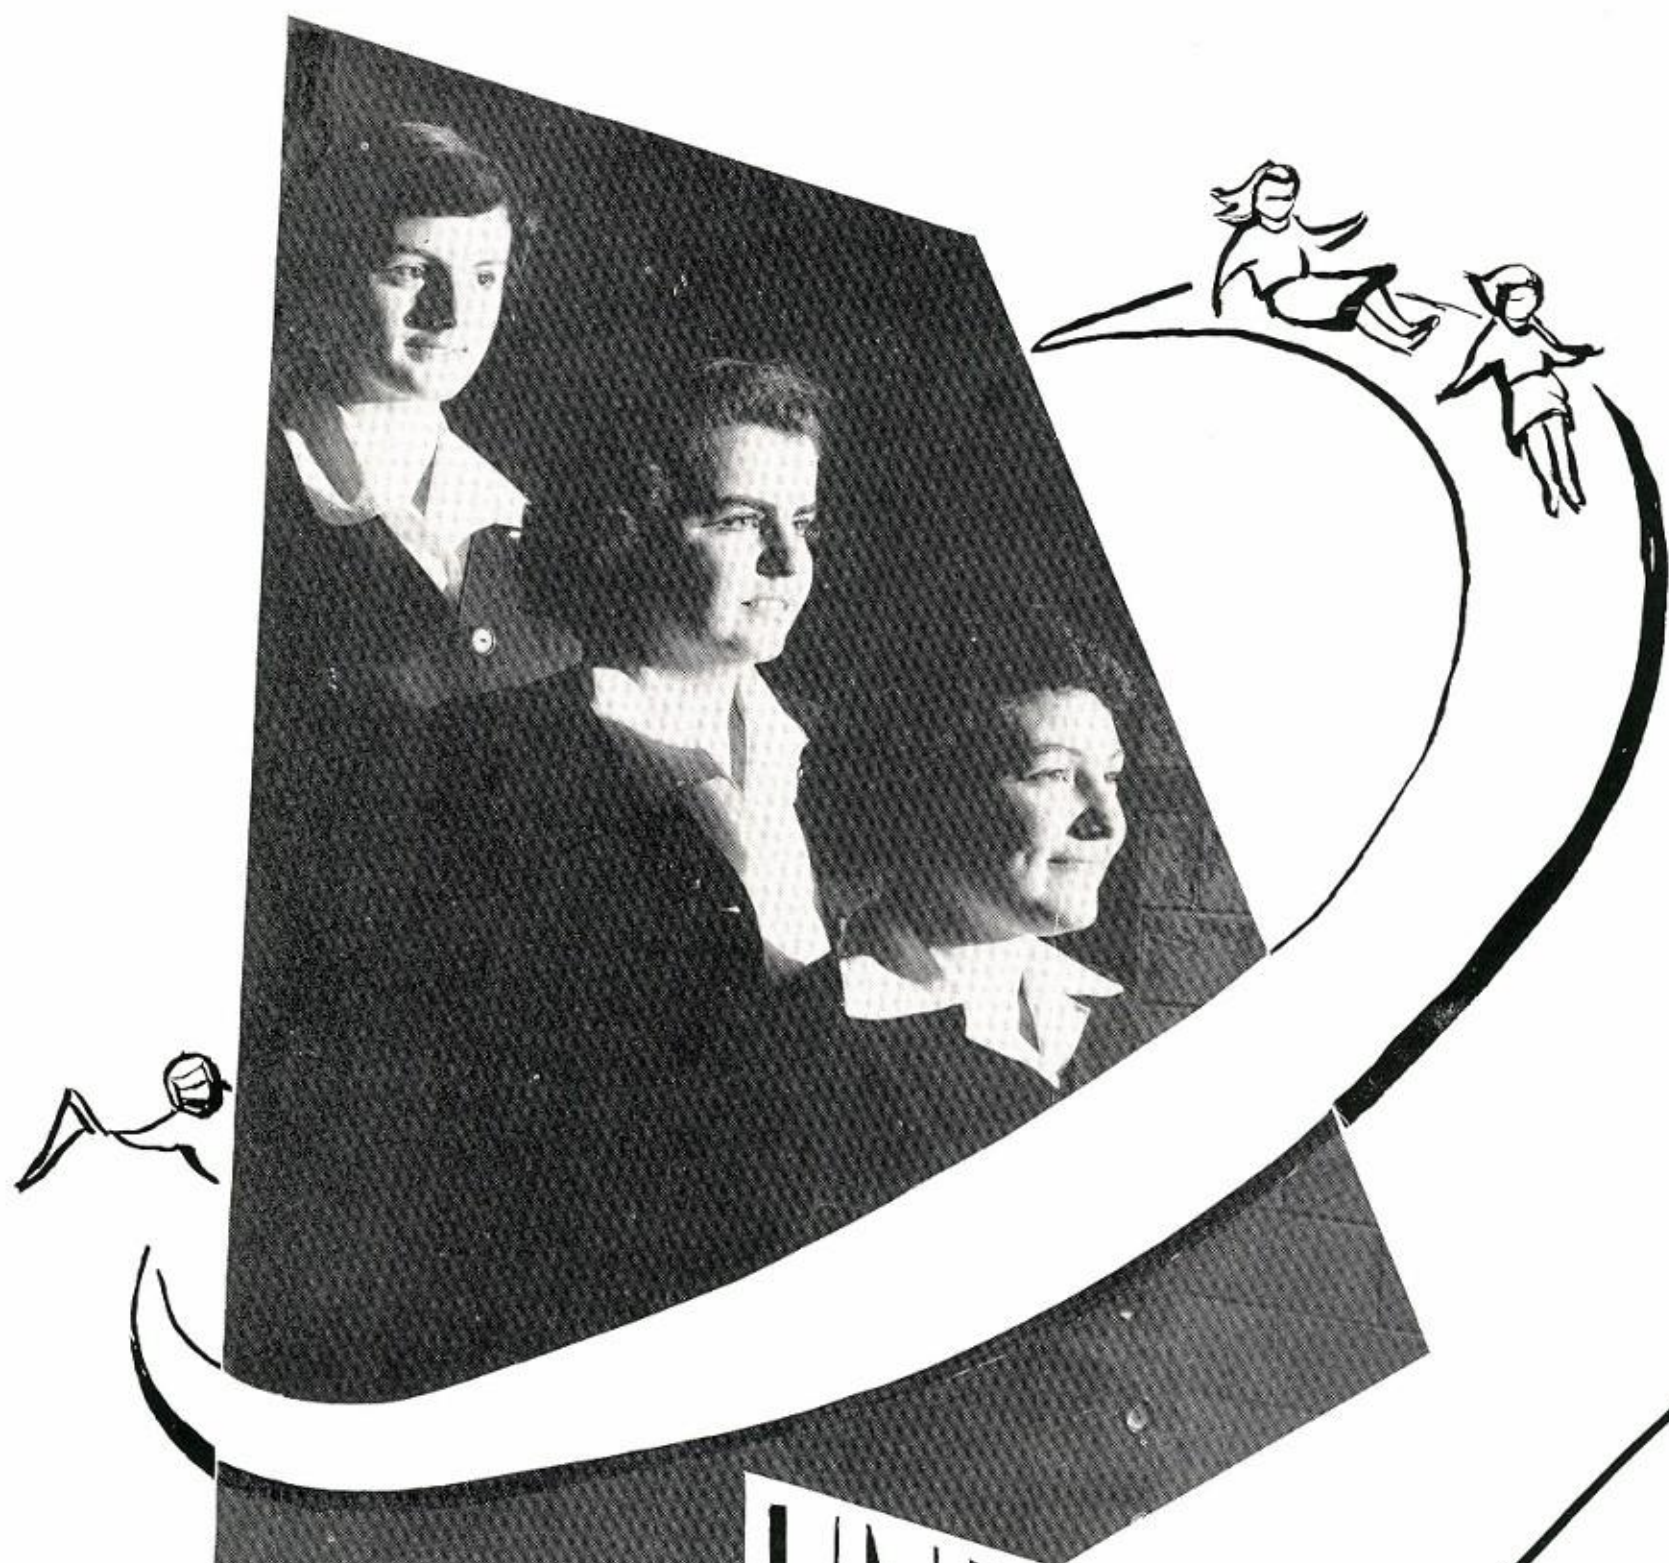

Left—Upper: If the skull fits, wear it. Ready for a fitting from D. McKeown and M. Wagner is M. Bourne.

Lower: It's all in knowing how, and C. Heid wishes she knew.

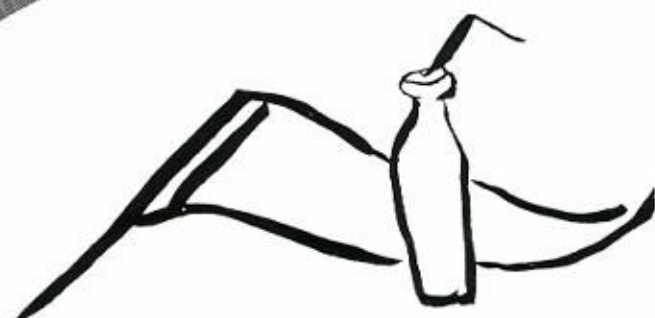

Right—Upper: "I can't find fonograf! I wonder why?" says B. Pierce to J. Daly.

Center: It's as simple as $2 + 2$, but M. Reilly doubts it.

Lower: He's not such a dummy, look what he's reading! and neither is A. Kohler for following suit.

UNDERGRADS

Who are the underclassmen?

We are the ones who peer through microscopes . . . conjugate verbs . . . scan poetry . . . shine up for gym inspection . . . gambol on the green . . . wear down endless pencils . . . monopolize the addition . . . and make noon visits to the church.

We are the Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors of our school.

The Gondoliers...

Our Operetta

was presented by the Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Harry J. Stephens. This is the story of Marco and Guiseppe, gondoliers, their brides, and their trip to Barataria to establish a "republican court." A happy ending resulted when Luiz, the Duke's attendant, was discovered to be the rightful king.

The officers of the Glee Club are J. Shepherd and M. Kooney, co-presidents, and E. Pittroff, secretary-treasurer.

Murder In A Nunnery

"Murder in a Nunnery," the Senior Class play, under the direction of Miss Jeanne Schubert was presented April 16, 17, 18.

With the murder of the Baroness Sliema in Harrington School, a convent school in England, Sgt. Mulligan and Inspector Pearson, who investigate the mystery, find more suspects than students and faculty—from the sweet, trusting Mother Trevor to the fiery and fascinating Inez. The Baron Sliema appears. Shortly afterwards Reverend Mother, under whose care everything has been kept in order, disappears. Meanwhile, the Baron confesses to his mother's companion, Mrs. Moss, that he is an enemy agent and the will, which the Baroness left, is a code. Reverend Mother returns with an idea for the solution . . . reenact the crime. She tells the police she knows the identity of the murderer. At the scene of the tragedy Mrs. Moss confesses she committed the crime and that the Baron is her son. The Baron is captured . . . by Inez . . . and all is well.

Catholic Action

Thursday is the day . . . Catholic Action in action as we plan and pray.

D. Peterson, president, outlines the goals of Catholic Action to the other officers, A. Seidel, H. Rintleman, and J. Johnson.

Upper: Scenes from our annual May Procession.

Lower Left: Dolores Peterson, our May Queen, has the honor of crowning Mary, our Mother, on Mother's Day.

Homeroom representatives choose posters which remind us of the true ideals of Catholic Action.

Thursday Morning Mass for the entire school is one of the largest undertakings of the Catholic Action group this year.

Our Law and Order

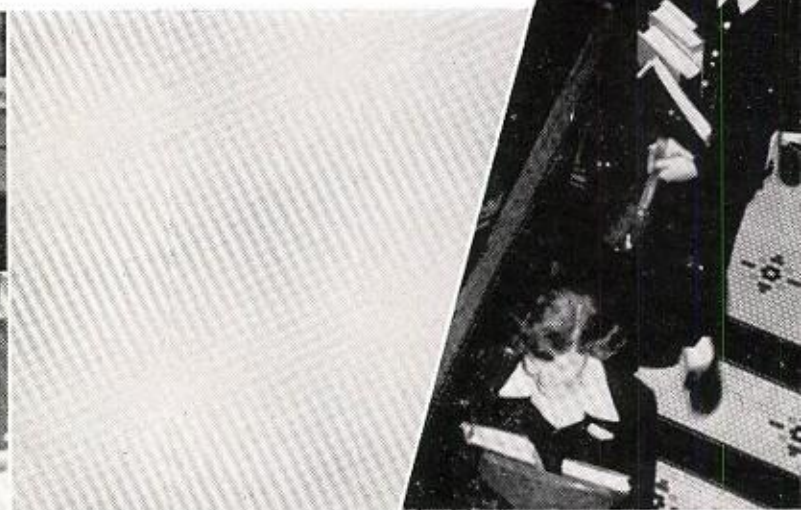

Student Councilors are found everywhere . . . before us, beside us and behind us. They keep order in Our House.

Lower Right: Pat Donnelly and Betty Boettger explain to the Student Councilors their job.

Upper Right: . . . on the stairs,

With Vision in View

Upper Right: "Seniors, sign that schedule!"

Lower Right: "Who! Me??" asks Julie Creedon.

Center: Mr. Gessner presents a gift certificate to Loralee Steele, the winning "Sinner" (senior) in Vision's poster contest.

Mission Misses Never Miss

With the world as their backyard, the Missions work together to procure prayers and pennies for the poor.

Our girls are earning their "God love you" from Bishop Sheen by sewing altar linens. R. Quinn, A. McGee, J. Sheehy, J. Fahey, and M. Hanley show their work to Father O'Donnell.

"Gobble, Gobble!" Everyone wants to know who's ahead in the turkey raffle sponsored by the Missions.

Scientists and Seamstresses

We explore unknown flora and fauna in the Albertus Magnus Club.

The Junior Red Cross provides clothing and toys for our benefactors, the poor.

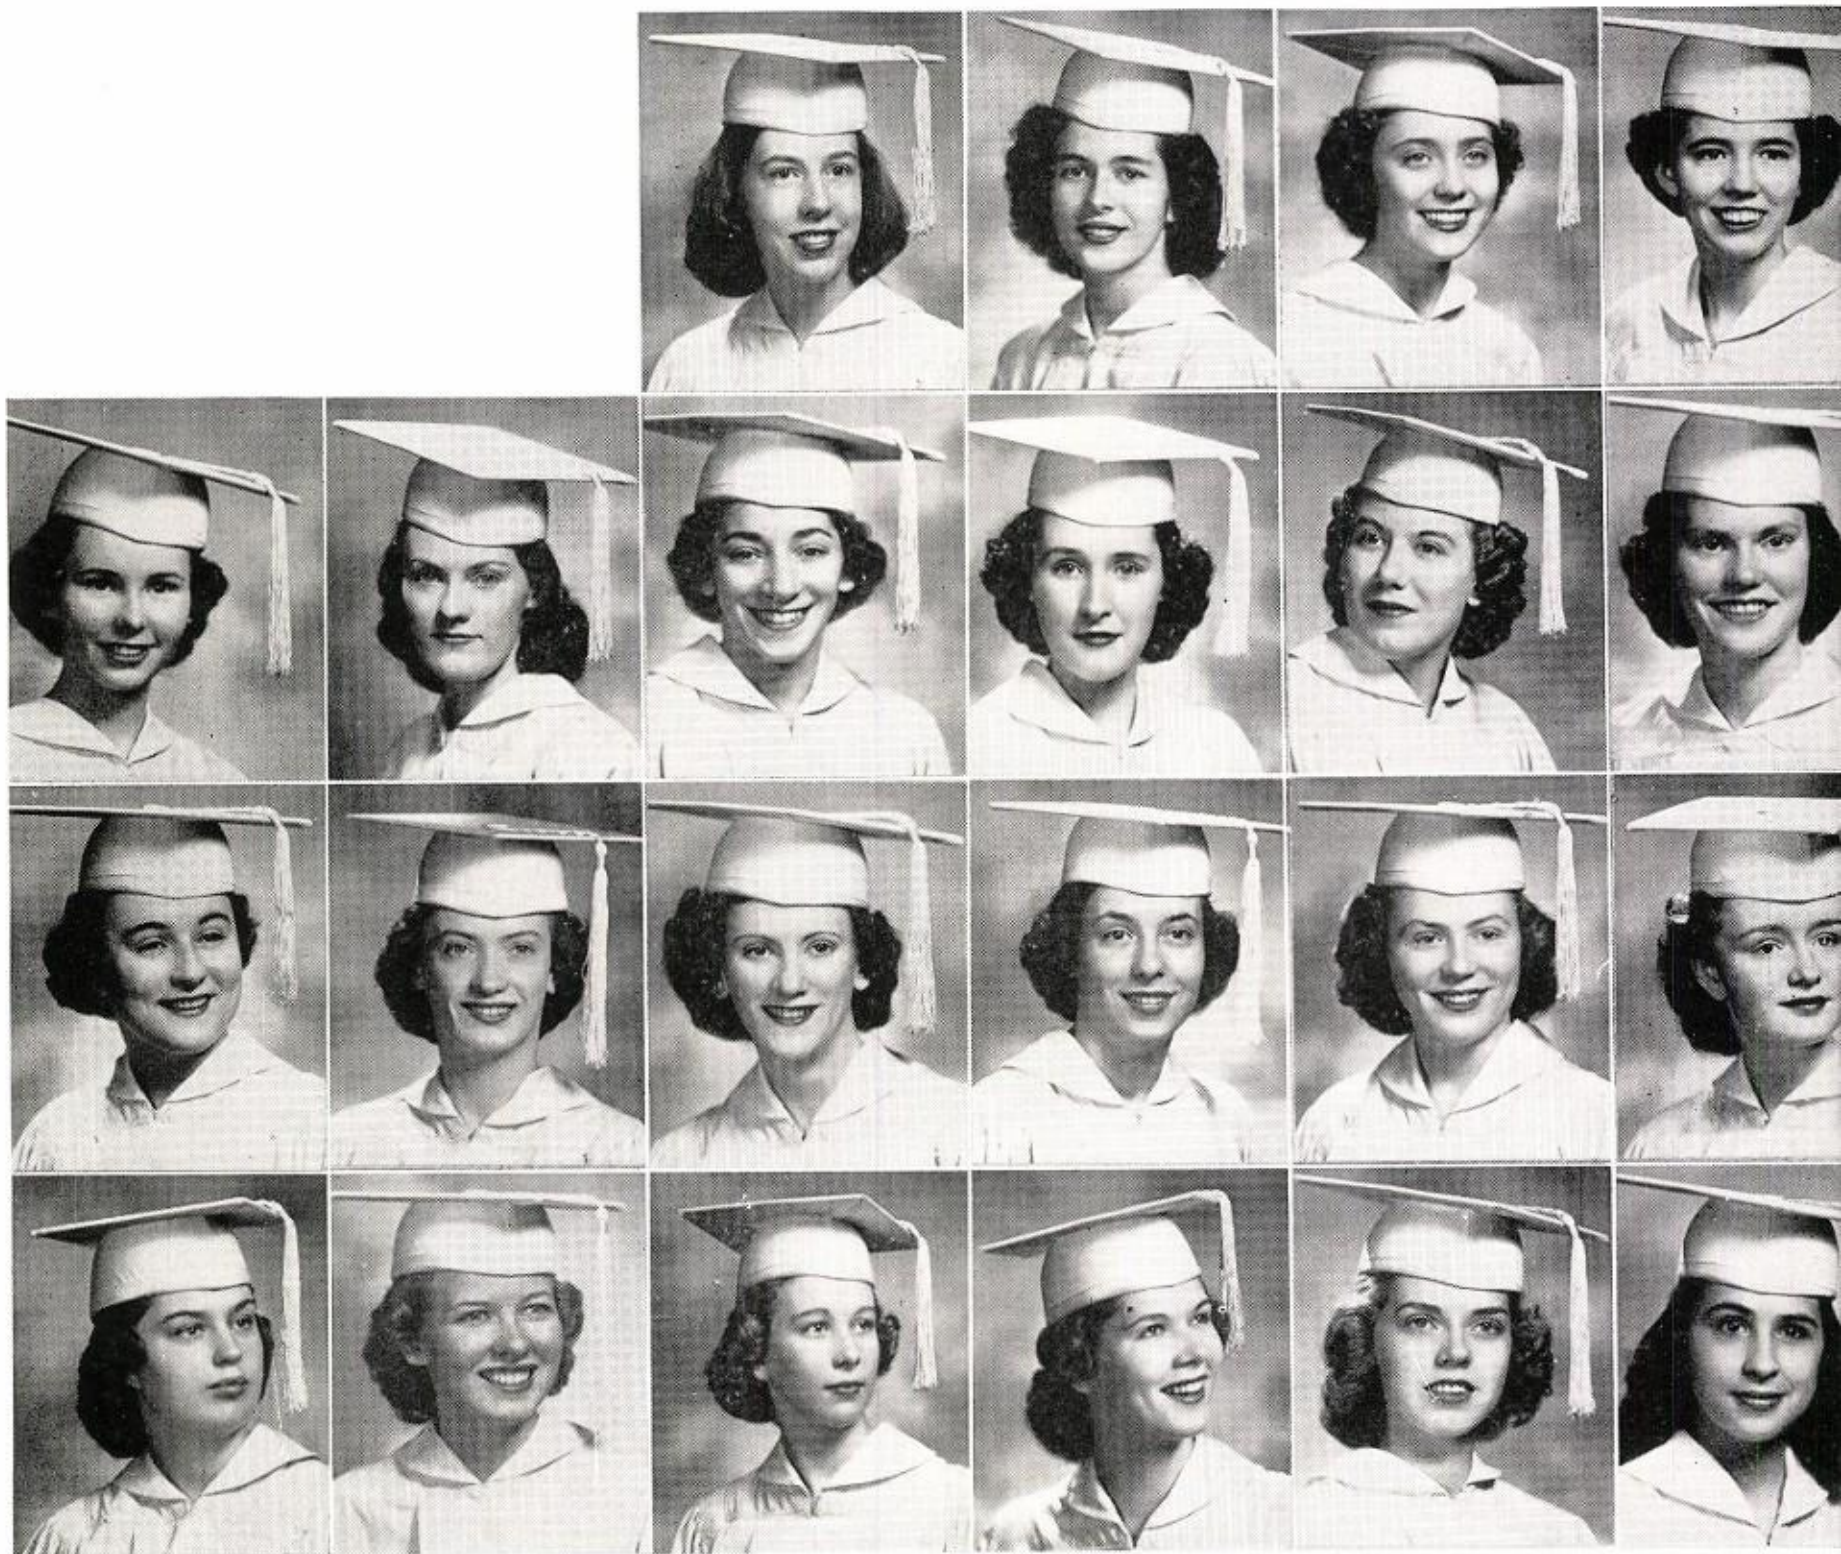

Snips and snails and puppy dog tails would be just as intriguing to S. Bachman, C. Harrington, H. Lamb, J. LeVoy, J. Wiley, C. Costic, and M. O'Connell.

Donkey ears and apron strings present a problem to C. Stephens, D. Lasky, J. McQuade, and M. McShane as they prepare boxes for the Red Cross.

The Little Wheels Behind Big Business

The Art and Business Clubs provide the decor and decorum for school activities.

Spring Comes on Forever. D. Pargois, B. Olesk, and N. Luzzi are creating pink and silver baubles for our Dream Time Prom.

"Bring Christmas back to Christ" is the idea behind Visitation Christmas Cards. L. Brown, B. Moylan, A. Varlotta, P. O'Brien, and D. Drabek fold and package more for distribution.

Machines never fly faster than when T. Salvato, P. Donnelly, B. Boettger, and M. Ward take over a corner of the typing room.

Snapshots of Our Lasses Outside of Classes

Left—Upper: "Standing room only." M. McMahon, M. LaPointe, J. Deceault, R. Manson.

Lower: "The outdoor type" aptly describes D. Bergthal, J. Sullivan, P. Mahoney, and J. Miller.

Right—Upper: But we've got plenty of chairs!!!

Center: Umm Umm—Good?

Lower: Calories or cash??? asks R. Wasielewski of S. Tucker, D. Saunders, and M. Mand.

Master Musicians

Soulima Stravinsky, son of the modern composer, honored Visitation with a program, March 7, 1952. This great pianist played for us in a manner seldom equaled. The rapt attention and enthusiastic applause of the students were indications that we realized our privilege in having Mr. Stravinsky with us. He is at present head of the Piano Department at the University of Illinois.

Mr. Stravinsky's accomplished technique is closely studied by senior music students D. Dalka, M. Fay, B. Daly and L. Tillrock.

Celebrities

Queen For A Day

Every girl's dream became a reality for Irene Siemieniec when she was chosen 1951 Homecoming Queen of Saint Mary's College in Winona, Minnesota. The Queen was chosen on the basis of photographs submitted by the students of St. Mary's College. Irene's brother Leonard is a freshman at St. Mary's.

Royal Appearance

Irene leads the colorful caravan around Jefferson's Field before the football game between St. Mary's and St. Olaf College.

Since, as Seniors, we are the oldest members of our family, we do many special things.

We sport class rings . . . we pose for pictures . . . we parade in caps and gowns . . . we take scholarship exams . . . we merit honors . . . we PROMenade in formals . . . we treasure diplomas . . . we weep at "Pomp and Circumstance".

When we leave our Visitation family we will go out into a wider world to make more friends . . . master harder tasks . . . and form new families.

A black and white photograph capturing a busy classroom scene. In the upper left, a woman, likely a teacher, stands while talking on a telephone. To her right, another woman sits at a desk, looking down at papers. In the center, a young girl stands with her back to the camera, looking at a bulletin board. To the right, another child is seated on the floor. In the foreground, a group of children, including boys and girls, are gathered around a table, seemingly engaged in a craft or activity. A woman in a white uniform and cap, possibly a nurse, is also present, attending to a child. The room is filled with various educational materials and furniture, creating a sense of a busy, active learning environment.

Yes, we go into the world . . . the world of business as secretaries and stenographers . . . the world of the religious as teachers and protectors . . . the world of medicine as nurses and laboratory technicians . . . the world of marriage as wives and mothers.

True to Thee We'll Be Always."

As Mary did, we too carry Christ with us, and now our story of the Visitation really begins. Although we have chosen many different fields to enter, we know that in each of them we will continue to learn of Christ, to pray to Him, and to bring Him to others.

"Let them look up and see no longer me but only Jesus."

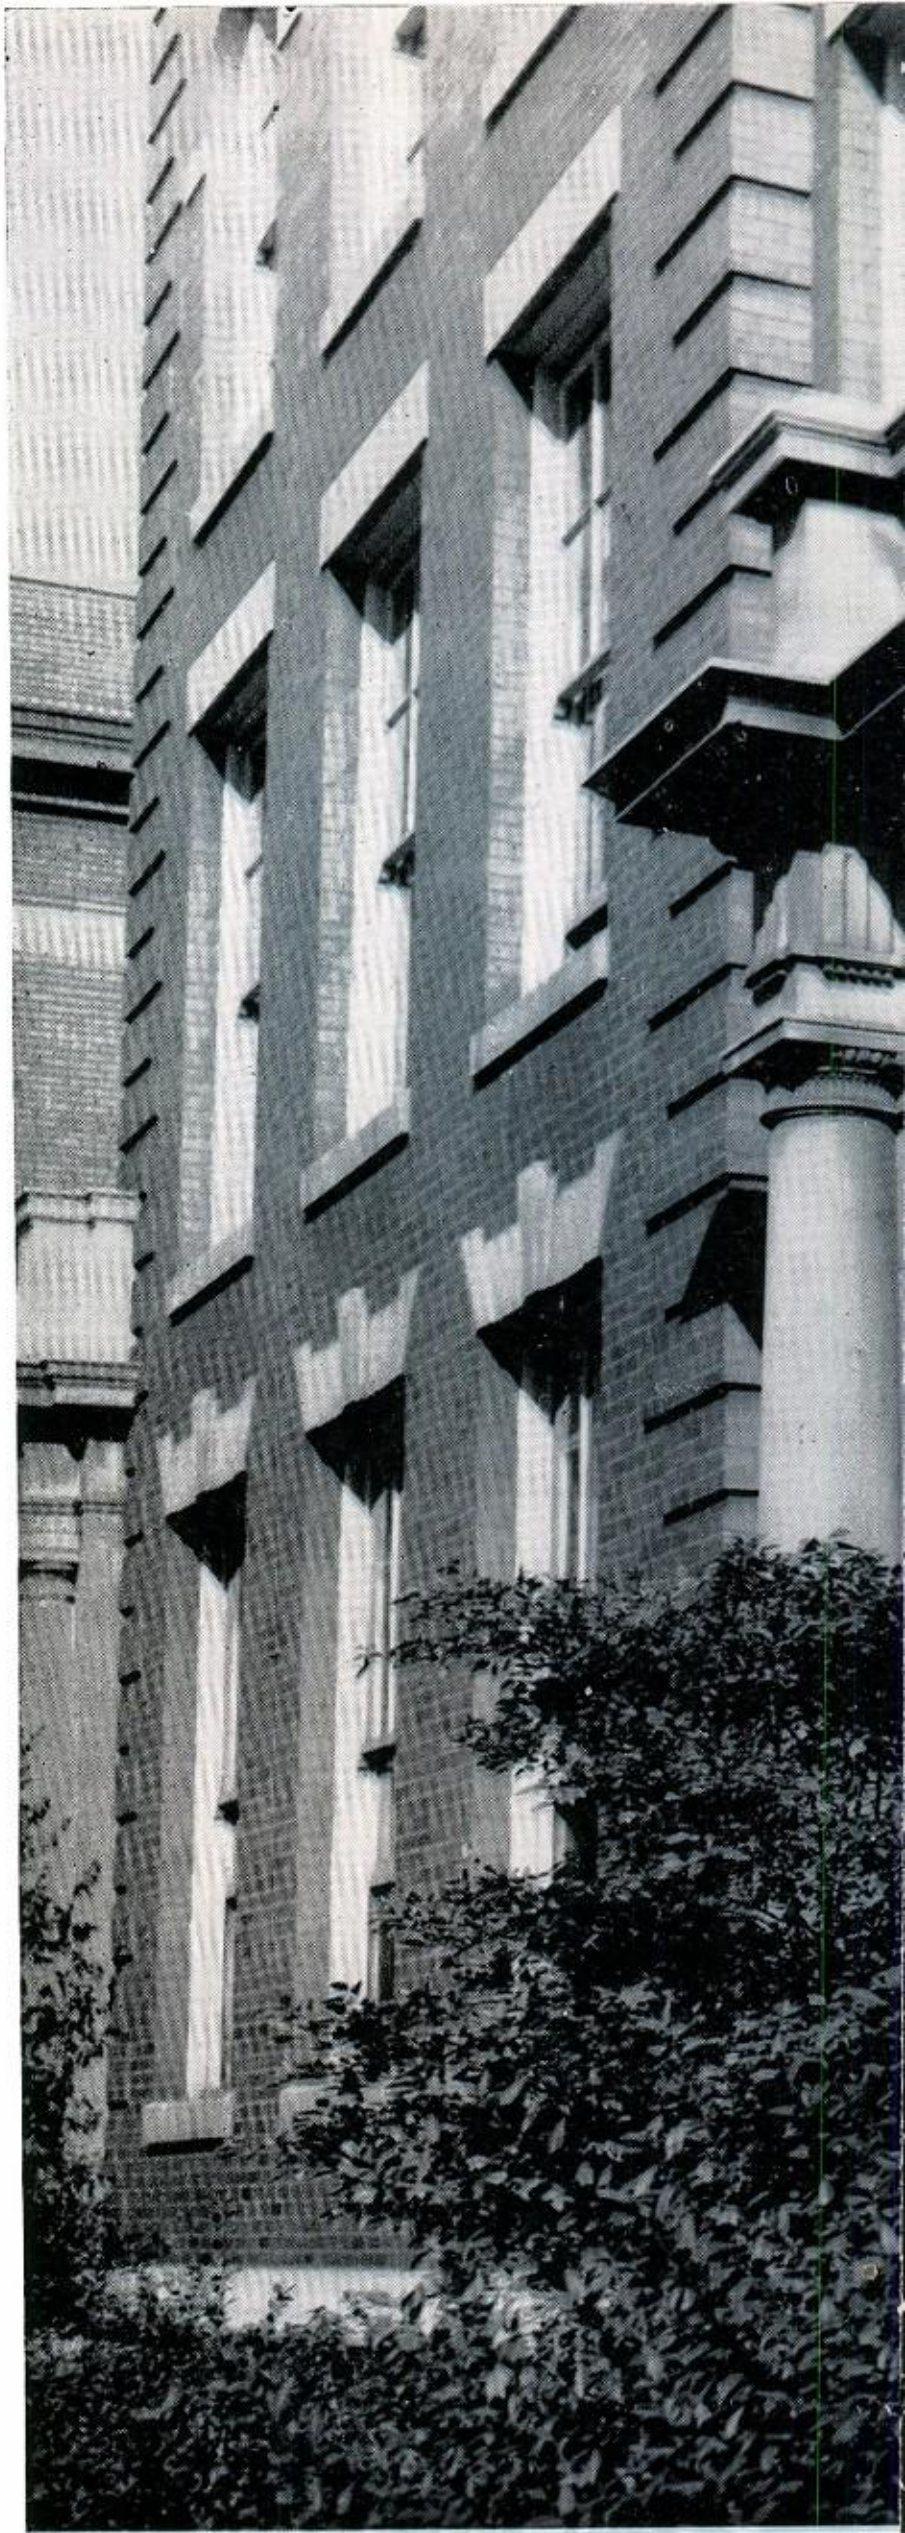

John Cardinal Newman
